

Assistant Professor of Education: Higher Education Leadership

Maryville University of Saint Louis is accepting applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor to shape and teach in an innovative doctoral (EdD) concentration in higher education leadership, support MA and EdD educational leadership programs, and supervise and advise students. Dedication to excellence in teaching, student advising, scholarship, teamwork and service to the university is essential. Doctorate and administrative experience in higher education required. Both quantitative and qualitative research knowledge/ experience is sought to assist program participants with developing their culminating inquiry project. It is preferred that candidates have teaching experience at the graduate level and administrative experience at the director level or above; experience with diverse populations also preferred; ABD near completion may be considered.

Maryville University of Saint Louis is a selective, private institution with over 3000 undergraduate and 800 graduate students. Founded in 1872, the university is ideally situated on 130 picturesque acres in west Saint Louis County. The School of Education is known for its extensive school partnerships, innovative doctorate programs, and commitment to the National Network for Educational Renewal principles. Visit www.maryville.edu/ed for more information. Pending budgetary approval. Position begins August 2012.

To apply, visit jobs.maryville.edu.

Maryville University is an affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to fostering a culturally diverse atmosphere for faculty, staff and students. As a member of the National Minority Faculty Identification Program, Maryville encourages applications from women and minorities.

For more information, contact:
Sam Hausfather, Dean
School of Education
Maryville University of St. Louis
314-529-9466
shausfather@maryville.edu